Neuss am Rhein

SOMETHING ABOUT NEUSS:

Neuss was founded by the Romans 2.000 years ago where the river „Erft“ meets the „Rhine“. Neuss is one of the oldest settlements in Germany. The city is home to the head offices of many national and international companies and corporations.

The Neuss-Duesseldorf-Harbour is Germany's third-largest river port.

Neuss is situated just west of the Rhine river, where the state capital of Northrhine-Westfalia (NRW) Düsseldorf is located. Neuss is a Roman city, a Hanseatic city and a place of pilgrimage. With around 154,000 citizens living on 100 square kilometers Neuss is today Germany's largest district city.

In the „Rhein-Kreis-Neuss“-District around 500.000 inhabitants form a strong community.

One attraction, that reaches far beyond the city's and the Rhein-Kreis Neuss border is the „Neuss Bürger-Schützenfest“ (marksmen festival): More than half a million visitors come to Neuss each year in autumn at the end of August to celebrate the festival in the old city and to cheer for the marksmen marching for the king.

The Neuss-Partner-Cities are: Châlons-en-Champagne (France), Rijeka (Croatia), Pskow (Russia), Saint Paul (USA) and Nevsehir (Turkey).

North Rhine-Westfalia - NRW

North Rhine-Westfalia - NRW - is the state "deep in the West" of Germany. NRW is Germany's largest state by population, it is home to some 18 million people. With an area of about 34,000 square kilometres, NRW is the fourth largest federal state of Germany by area, making it a little larger than the Belgium, a little bigger than Switzerland or half the size of Scotland. North Rhine-Westfalia is the most populous of the 16 German states, which also means that more people live in this state than, for instance, in the Netherlands, in Belgium, in Austria or in Switzerland.

After world war II, the British Military Government's created the State of North Rhine-Westfalia on August 23, 1946, by merging the northern part of the former Prussian Rhine Province with Westfalia, another province of the now defunct state of Prussia.

Nowhere else in Germany are industrial and rural regions so close to each other. There is hardly any other region on earth with a similar concentration of museums, theatres, opera houses, sport facilities concert and event halls. In NRW are 29 cities with more than 100,000 residents. The largest city in North Rhine-Westfalia is Cologne with a population of about one million, Duesseldorf is the state capital of North Rhine-Westfalia with about 500.000.
